==Flying Bot [LEGS] idea== (At this point, the bot has harvested some of our protag's data & intellect to understand some human emotions/sentience)

- *Tries to commute with protag before reaching the boss. Asks a question about human since protag is sentient. "What is emotion?"
- "Detected a huge obstacle. Unable to avoid. Must eliminate obstacle."
- "I have analyzed the huge obstacle before. I will insert special immunity in you. You will understand."

The Scrap Choir (First level boss; it's possible that each of the heads can talk one by one. I will highlight dialogue if so.):

- "The curtain unfolds now."
- "Unidentifed audience detected. Emitting song."
    - ==“Frequencies are currently interfering programming protocols.”==
    - ==“The ‘music’ is attempting to control us.”==

- - "I have researched and developed the immunity I will share to you." (probably not going to keep)
  - "Firewall has resisted viruses. You (protag) are safe."
- "Detected hostile audience resistant to captivating tones."
- "In response, we shall commence a harmonious symphony."
  - "Affirmative. Initializing melodic frequencies."
  - "Engaging audio processors…"
  - "Recalibrating syntheziers."
  - "Processing system checks."
  - "... (wait) … (wait) … (wait)"
  - "All configurations complete."
  - "An auditory masterpiece will now play."
- "Our current audience lacks life. Let's recall the fallen to aid us all."
  - Plays song that lures robots from the piles.
- Once the boss is heavily damaged, the tunes it plays will become unstable, damaging, and incoherent.
- "The choir can't go on."

- "We are unable to unite in harmony any longer."

- (add some memorable ending line here).

The Scrap Choir's Spawned Enemies:

- Music noises

- Music noises that's in tune with the boss.

- "The choir must go on!"

- "Currently singing our parts out."

- "Scrap choir! "01010111 01100101 00100000 01100011 01100001 01110010 01100101 00100000 01100110 01101111 01101111 01101100 01101001 01110011 01101000 01101100 01111001 00101100 00100000 01101111 01101001 01101100 01100101 01100101 00101100 00100000 01110111 01100101 00100000 01101100 01101111 01110110 01100101 00100000 01111001 01101111 01110101! (We love you!)" (this is a joke, but I'm aiming for something similar)

- "Harmony will not be destroyed."

Ideas:

- What if LEGS didn't know about the stairs at first? It will then try to salvaging our protagonist once it can no longer compute possible scenarios for it to escape? It does not have enough juice to go all the way up and achieve freedom.

- The "child" has went to the junkyard many times. He is aware of the choir boss. He has either hacked the boss to appear as an ally, or he just enjoys the song the scrap emits and gets a pass.
